

Archives ACT Finding Aid Functional History of the Chief Minister's Department of the Australian Capital Territory to 2004

Introduction

DIRKS (Designing and Implementing Recordkeeping Systems process) is encapsulated in the two parts of AS ISO 15489.1 Records Management - Part 1: General, and AS ISO 15489.2 Records Management - Part 2: Guidelines. These standards are the basis of various Territory Records Office Standards and Guidelines.

Part of DIRKS Step B.4.2.3 Assigning dates to functions and activities of the DIRKS process is covered in this document.

- 1. The *Functional History of the Chief Minister's Department d*escribes the history of the functions in the Chief Minister's Department since its identified start date.
- 2. Other organisations that have administered the function (or linked activities) are included; these particularly reflect the functions that have moved to Treasury and Urban Services, and sometimes back again.
- 3. The business unit, branch and division responsible for all or part of the function is not listed, but organisational charts found in the annual reports and issued variously as administrative changes are promulgated do show the responsibilities.

Dates are assigned to the functions and activities. These dates establish a time frame, which is useful for the development and application of the linked recordkeeping tools such as the thesaurus and disposal schedule.

A start date, whether for a function or activity, is supported by an appropriate source, such as legislation, published histories, interview, early annual reports or the records themselves.
